Introduction

This index has been designed, as far as possible, to provide the user with access to information in the Journals, Bulletins and Newsletters published between 1949 and 1997 by the France & Colonies Philatelic Society of Great Britain. There is no particular significance in the choice of 1997 for the end of the index: it is simply the point in time most convenient for the end of the index at the time it was being completed.

The task has spread out over more than ten years, and I am grateful to Bob Stuckey and John Woodcock for early work on the Index concept, which has been incorporated in this work. However, I as compiler am solely responsible for the extent to which items have been included or excluded. This is also the moment to thank Bill Mitchell for the Index he prepared to Newsletters 22 to 58 (1976-1985), which was of great assistance in ensuring completion (so far as that has been achieved!) to my standards.

My aim, however, has been different to Bill's, and there is deliberate duplication, on the lines of the F&CPS (GB) Library Lists (for which I am also responsible), so as to try and save a searcher's time, even though this may lead to a longer index than might otherwise have been possible. I consider that it is probably unlikely that another such index, compiled with personal knowledge of the participants in the Society's activities over nearly 37 years, will be attempted and hence readers' understanding for the extent of coverage, particularly in the Society affairs' section, is sought. I remind readers that an annual index has appeared in the Journal in issue 162 (December 1986) and has continued to date.

The first section of the Index gives a history of publication, and puts the record straight, I hope, as regards numbering, which has been a little variable! There is no account of the page numbers in each issue, as I feel this would serve no useful purpose: pagination has varied throughout the publication history between individual issues and individual volumes (it is currently the latter, and I hope it will remain so). Since the enduring feature of all issues is the 'Whole Number' concept, this has been adopted for the index references, with Whole Number and page being shown as follows:

ALEXANDRIA

- Blanc Type [G.E. Barker] 128/93

Items from the early 'France & Colonies Stamp Club' issues are coded F1 to F11 while Newsletter items are coded NL, each with page reference as above, thus:

- Colonial Corner [C.W. Spong] 159/39; NL48/7; NL49/15; NL50/13; NL51/10;

- Colonial News F2/3; F9/4

Main headings are shown in capital letters, with sub-headings shown successively by '-', •, and *. Within entries, references are shown by chronological sequences, where this is feasible; if not, Journal references come first (in numerical order) and then Newsletter references, as in the 'Colonial Corner' sequence shown above. Where it is appropriate to merge items under a general heading, even though they were published under different headings, this has been done, but cross reference to the varying headings is included.

No attempt has been made to decide which articles or other entries are 'major' references: this is a subjective matter which is left to readers. Obviously, long sequences of references under a heading will indicate a significant contribution to the literature. Under any given subject, linked but not related items are separated by semi-colons; a series of articles is shown by page references separated by commas. This is not always done: clarity on the page is the criterion.

This index is being published in English and hence, as far as possible, terms are expressed in English. The French equivalents, where they are widely used, are given as cross references and this gives, to some measure, an explanation of some of the more widely used French philatelic terms, which I hope will be useful.

The Subject and Society indexes use (), [] and { }; parentheses () are used to add explanation of a preceding item; square brackets [] are used to separate, chiefly, authors' names from topics; { } are used to give comments where the other separators are not appropriate. Consistency has probably not always been achieved! Since articles are listed by subject content, there is a separate Author index, which lists individual articles and other sections of a similar nature. Publications by these or other authors which are not part of the Society's Journal, etc, pages are listed in Literature sections.

The Society index tries to highlight not just the general life of the Society but also the achievements (including the displays, where they have been reported) of members - but only, of course, where they have been included in the Society's pages. They thus do not constitute a complete biography of our members' activities!

Since Bill Mitchell's Newsletter index and many of the above-mentioned annual indexes to the Journal contain chronological lists of the Society's Programme, this has not been specifically included in this index, but the data is of course there, and the programme (through 'Programme' references and other items) for any given year can easily be reconstructed.

I. Register of Issue Numbers by Date

Over the history of these publications, there have been changes in the numbering systems (including some errors), and several switches in the publication format and frequency of issue. The title of the main Society periodical has also altered several times and these are indicated in the following list of issues, which will assist librarians and others in cataloguing and binding.

In addition to volume and issue numbers used from the outset, a system of Whole Numbers was introduced in January 1959. This has been used for post facto renumbering of the first 57 issues (second series); a separate range of Whole Numbers prefixed F has been used for the first series, issued initially by the France & Colonies Stamp Club, and continued by the France & Colonies Philatelic Society. Two of the Whole Numbers were duplicated by the Editor of the day, and the second one on each of these occasions has been listed here with an 'A' number (90A & 93A). Members are advised to renumber their copies, as shown in the following tabulation.

- For simplicity, all citations in this Index are by Whole Numbers. Note that some numbers (for example in Volumes 14, 15 & 19) were never issued, but no whole numbers were skipped. The relation of some Volumes to the months did not go by calendar years; the volumes coincided with calendar years for volumes 3 to 13, and 16 to date. Numbers of issues per volume varied from 1 to 15.
- The list of 'Newsletter' issues (Numbers prefixed by N) follows that of the 'Journal'.

NEWSLETTER (Second Series)

Foolscap pages (13" x 8") for WN 1-4; thereafter half-foolscap (8" x 6½") until WN 13; WN 14 - foolscap; WN 15 onwards half-foolscap until WN 87. The Newsletter changed its nature with WN 82, becoming simply a News Sheet (half-foolscap WN 82 - 87, then reverting to foolscap with WN 88; this lasted until WN 93A, when it changed back to half-foolscap, and the principal Society publication has remained in this size ever since). This was because of the proposed publication, in instalments and in the style of the previous 'Newsletter', of a Handbook of French Philately, written and produced by Bentley, and entitled 'An introduction to the Postal History, Postage Stamps and Postmarks of France from 1849-1876'. Only three issues appeared, however, because of the untimely death in a road accident of Revd Bentley.

BULLETIN

With this change of title (although the Editor, Inglis-Franklin, persisted in calling himself 'Newsletter Editor' elsewhere on the title page!), the publication resumed a more serious approach, worthy of the Society and reminiscent of Bentley's efforts. With issue WN 100, it began a new series of coloured, card covers in which the colours of the ink and the card mimicked the colour combinations seen in the 'Cérès' issues of 1849 onwards.

JOURNAL

From WN 121/2 onwards the title changed to 'Journal', reflecting the change to only philatelic content thenceforward: the ephemeral and purely 'Society' matter now appeared only in the new series of 'Newsletters', that began in January 1972 (see below). The distinction 'Journal' for philatelic text and 'Newsletter' for Society matters remained unchanged up to WN 158 inclusive. Thereafter, the present series of 'single' publications was inaugurated. Card covers continued up to WN 174. Thereafter a 'self' cover, in heavier, glossy paper was used.

NEWSLETTER (Third Series) (coded 'NL' in the Index)

(Numbers were allocated post facto when the series reached No. 22)

These were produced as a means of providing rapid information to members and leaving free the 'Journal' for purely philatelic content. J.H. Levett was the Editor of the first two issues; thereafter, the compiler of this index was responsible for editing, producing and distributing most of the copies that followed. Up to Journal 132, all went well, but thereafter Society finances and other matters led to a rapid diminution of issues of the Journal. It was to support the rarely appearing Journal (one issue in each of the years 1976, 1977, 1978 & 1979) that the Newsletter little by little increased the philatelic contents of its pages: these were given a retrospective summary Index in the pages of Journal 181. Page size varied between foolscap (13" x 8") and A4 up to NL21, and the customary 8" x 6½" thereafter.
